Thomson Chain Buys Two Papers in Ohio

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (UPI) — Zanesville Times-Recorder and the Coshocton, Ohio, Tribune have been sold to Thomson newspapers of London and Chicago for an undisclosed sum. Thomson is not buying the broadcasting stations affiliated with the papers.

The Thomson Co. said there will be no change in personnel or policies. The Zanesville paper has been published by the Littick family for half a century. The global Thomson newspaper chain is controlled by Lord Thomson of Fleet and includes The Times of London.
